

Healing Trauma: Attachment, Trauma, the Brain and the Mind

Price: $65.00

Description

"The old dichotomies of "nature or nurture" and "mind and brain" have yielded to an appreciation of the complex and powerful ways in which biology and environment continuously interact in shaping perception and behavior. A new paradigm for treatment is now possible; therapy is an invention that changes the brain. A framework for understanding normal growth, development and a re-evaluation and redefinition of trauma is presented. This program examines: {module[188]}"

Specification

Conference Recordings
CE Hours (optional)	14 CE hours are available when you add (+ $20.00) and successfully pass the CE exam
Presenter(s)	Daniel Siegel, Allan Schore, Bessel van der Kolk, Mary Main, Robert Neborsky, Francine Shapiro, Diana Fosha
Time	14 hours
Year	2012